The Parish Council would like to express its thanks to the Carnival Committee and all who helped to make Wakes Week such an enjoyable and packed week. It was great fun and the two evening events in the marquee were well attended and enjoyed by many.

We would also like to thank the football club for the removal of the old changing rooms on the playing fields that had become a health and safety issue. This was done swiftly and efficiently and it is greatly appreciated.

Oh how wonderful it was! Come rain or shine, the village has once again outdone itself in the planning and quality of the many various offerings during Wakes Week and Secret Gardens. If you just want to sit down with a cup of tea now, I don't blame you! We've been so busy. This is only possible of course thanks to the numerous helpers that turn Wakes Week and Secret Gardens into the Highlights of the year - a special treat for villagers and visitors alike and a much needed financial boost for all the groups in the village and more. So, thank you all very much, you have been fantastic! And also thank you to the many visitors who visited us - again or for the first time - and enjoyed Wakes Week and Secret Gardens with us! Come back real soon!

Keep well,

Gabi

Pre-Loved School Uniforms

It's been in the headlines recently that the cost of school uniform sets parents back hundreds of pounds every year, especially when branded or logo items are required. It's also estimated 1.4 million wearable UK School Uniform garments end up in landfill annually. To reduce clothing waste in line with the school's Eco ethos the Parents Teachers Friends Association (PTFA) has a stock of pre-loved uniform items. Both Winster School logo'd and plain.

Please see Winster PTFA Facebook page 'shop' to see school embroidered logo items in stock. Including unisex sweatshirts, girls cardis, unisex Polo Ts and PE tops. Some of these are nearly new.

We also have plain grey or black trousers, skirts and shorts, blue shirts, royal blue sweaters, white polo Ts and royal blue cardis are available .

Please email, or message via the Facebook Chat facility, if you're looking for anything in particular and I'll send you photos. Age from age 4 - 15. FREE for any Winster school pupils and new starters. For pupils attending neighbouring or High schools we do request a nominal contribution, but no item is more than 50p, most even less! Contact us - winsterptfa@gmail.com

Card payments for community events

Experience from the Wakes Day bar and from Secret Gardens confirms that even for community events, customers are increasingly expecting to be able to pay by card. Secret Gardens has several devices to take cards, and these are available for other village organisations to borrow. Get in touch (in good time, please) if you want to be able to take card payments for an event that you are organising.

CARNIVAL CAFÉ

When Chris Aykroyd retired after ten years of running the Carnival Café, Jean Sheppard asked me whether it would be possible to move next door and use our house as the base for the café, since we share the same wide pavement on the south side of Main Street which is just made for café tables and chairs.

We only moved into Burton House a few months ago and I was dubious as to whether the kitchen would pass muster (being fitted out in the 1970s, it could do with a little modernisation!) To my surprise/apprehension Jean declared it perfect! She assured me that there would be a team of people who would organise it all – they just needed to use our house, I didn't need to worry about a thing. And thus the 2023 Carnival Café was hosted by Burton House instead of Virginia House.

And Jean was right, there was a team – a superb team – who organised the event. Gazebos, tables and chairs, trestle tables, an urn (every café needs a Little Urn!), boxes and boxes of crockery and cutlery - all supplied by Ian Broadbent, to whom a huge thank you as always - cakes, smart red pinnies for the staff, tea towels – absolutely everything a café could possibly need. Beautiful posies of flowers appeared as if by magic on the tables – again a big thank you to Cerys and Clare Monk for those.

Customers took up their seats before opening time – important to get a front seat for the carnival parade! And from then on there was a steady stream of people having a cuppa and enjoying the wonderful array of cakes, meeting old friends and new and just watching the fun of Carnival Day.

From my strictly back of house position at the kitchen sink I heard a cacophony of "two teas, one coffee, one chocolate cake, one lemon drizzle, one fruit cake – and do we do oat milk?" or variations on that theme. I thanked my lucky stars I wasn't part of it, far too confusing for my brain, but it all appeared to work like clockwork, the front of house staff were magnificent and seemed to be enjoying themselves.

Towards the end of the afternoon the packing up of crockery began – once again all incredibly organised, managed by Jean who clearly knows the job backwards by now; tables were dismantled, the gazebos disappeared as magically as they had appeared and before I knew it the house was back to normal.

A huge thank you goes to Jean and Dave Sheppard as project managers, plus Deborah and Martin Hofman, Bev Shimwell, Jean and Roger Dugmore, Chris Aykroyd (she just couldn't keep away!) Lily Aykroyd and her friend Lily Rose; also to everyone who donated cakes – in a week when there had been requests for cakes on an almost daily basis for all the events of Carnival Week. Any unnamed cake plates from here are now at the church – where they could be collected whilst enjoying a slice of someone else's cake! I admit to thinking that maybe this would be a one-off for me. But I guess it's a bit like childbirth – when it's all over you think "never again!" but time moves on and the memory recedes Judy Hinsliff

Secret Gardens

Secret Gardens 2023 will be remembered for the rain – and also for the doggedness of our visitors and the determination of Winster residents to keep going in the face of adversity!

An enormous thank you to everyone who helped in any way to make Secret Gardens 2023 happen this year, and to help make it so successful despite the weather challenges. Despite the rain, we had 900 visitors.

Special mention this year must go to those helpers who got drenched. Dave Brown and his amazing set up and take down team delivered equipment and erected and took down gazebos in torrential rain. The teams at the Bank Top car park and our traffic marshals were all soaked through.

Our visitors clearly had a great time, though – there were smiles beneath the cagoules and dripping umbrellas. Aside from the beautiful and varied gardens, so many people commented on the friendliness of everyone and the warm welcome they received from Winster.

We do not yet have the final financial figures: these are due shortly after the magazine goes to print. Whilst this year will clearly not be a record year for income, we are still expecting to have made a surplus and will be able to make a modest level of donations to local groups and projects. Details of how to apply will be in next month's magazine.

Thanks again to the very many people who made Secret Gardens such a triumph – and do please come back and help next year. Secret Gardens 2024 will be on Saturday 20th & Sunday 21st July.

Winster Parish Council

The Parish Council is thinking of organising a village networking event on a Saturday morning in October. This would provide a chance for existing groups to recruit new members, and it would provide a good opportunity for anyone thinking of setting up a new group or activity to "test the waters". We'll invite our County and District councillors, and our MP, to join us if any of them can spare the time. And we'd hope to offer some nice refreshments too.

If you are part of a group who might take part, can you email me - john@winster.org - to let me know. If we get enough interest, we will fix a date in time to tell everyone about it in the end-September issue of the Village Mag. John Geddes

Gigaclear works on East Bank

The broadband company Gigaclear have a road closure for much of East Bank from August 23rd. The map implies that they will be working on the whole section from the Triangle up to the Common, and the closure period is a fortnight.

But it shouldn't be nearly that bad.

Digging up the road is expensive, so Gigaclear are using existing BT ducts as far as possible for their network. But there is a 100m stretch of East Bank where there is no room in the BT ducts, so they will be installing a new duct under the road. That 100m starts at the "downhill" end of the common (just west of what many of us know as Freda's house). They will be removing the ugly concrete box they have built into the sloping verge as part of this works.

And although the closure is longer (to cover them for unexpected problems), they reckon that the works might only take four or five days.

On any given day, they will only actually close the road for about 25m: residents either side of that section will be free to come and go as normal, but won't be able to drive through that 25m stretch – so you may have to divert downhill if you would normally head uphill through the affected section (or vice versa).

There are only a few houses on the stretch that will see digging. Residents there will need to talk to the construction gang if they are going to need to get in or out by car or van (or accept a bulky delivery) during the day when the work is across their access. The promise is that if you can give them notice of at least an hour, they will make sure that you can get in or out at a particular time.

As a utility company, Gigaclear doesn't need special permission for infrastructure work. But they are engaging with Parish Council to try and minimise the impact (even if this didn't quite work as planned in the runup to Secret Gardens). If you have an immediate problem with their actions, please speak to their contractors, or to call the number that should be displayed somewhere near the works. If that doesn't work, please email gcproblems@winster.org and we will do what we can.

John Geddes, for Winster Parish Council.

Crowning of the Carnival Queen

We both felt very honoured to be invited, by the carnival committee, to crown the carnival Queen this year. It was a great pleasure to be so closely involved. Once again congratulations to Queen Clementine supported by Princess Daisy and Rosebuds Sophie and Runa. We also wanted to thank everyone for their support and for making the day so special for us both.

CPR and Defibrillator Training

We have arranged for the East Midlands Ambulance Service to provide a free training session in CPR (Cardiopulmonary resuscitation) and use of the village defibrillator. This is open to those who are currently members of the village Telephone Tree group, to those who are happy to join the group, and to anyone else who would like to feel more confident in helping in a cardiac emergency.

The session is at 8.15pm on Tuesday 5th September at the Burton Institute and will last about an hour. Please contact me (john@winster.org or 650364) to book a place.

For anyone who doesn't know about the village Telephone Tree - this provides quick help in a medical emergency. Always call 999 first, but if you need help while waiting for an ambulance (e.g. with CPR, to fetch the defibrillator, or any similar support), then call the telephone tree on (01629) 698699. That will set a dozen phones ringing across Winsters and you will be connected to the first person to answer.

'The East Beast' Cycle Hill Trial - 2023

The sixth running of 'The East Beast' Cycle Hill Trial took place on the Monday of Wakes Week. A fine evening encouraged a good number of spectators from the village to watch the riders. The event is jointly organised by Matlock Cycling Club and Winster Carnival Committee. This year saw by far the largest number of riders since the Hill Trial became part of the Wakes Week calendar with 67 completing the course. Riders came from clubs across the East Midlands region and some from further afield including Coventry, Surrey, Ludlow and St Albans. This year there were 32 junior riders as 'The East Beast' is part of a series of hill trials where young people can gain points in a regional competition.

The fastest adult male rider, Matthew Cram from Matlock CC, completed the climb from The Old Bowling Green Inn to The Common in 53.7 seconds. Maia Howell, the fastest female rider also of Matlock CC and a junior, completed the course in 69.0 seconds. A complete listing of riders and times has been posted on the village notice board. The record time for 'The East Beast' was set in 2018 at 46.6 seconds.

AB Electrical generously sponsors the event. The support of Marilyn and David from The Old Bowling Green is much appreciated in opening the bar and allowing the use of the car park for registration. Thanks also go to the stewards and first aider who ensure the safety of riders and spectators.

Winster Wakes Day

WINSTER SECRET GARDENS 2023

WINSTER COUNTRY SHOW

I think we all have to agree the whole day was an absolute outright success. From the sunny, dry weather to the last crumb of cake, the “Event in the Tent” brought joy and delight in equal measure.

The number of entries ensured all the table tops were filled with items created and crafted, grown and garnished, here in Winster.

With categories for every age group, the marquee was filled with contributions from people of all abilities and it was particularly pleasing to see the ingenious and imaginative ways the children from the school had filled their tinfoil trays with their own ideas for “adventure playgrounds”. Also pleasing were the number of entries in the “Young People 11-16” category, showing that the skills, talents and passions of the adults are being passed on to the next generation.

The little group of people who organised the whole event is grateful first, to Kerry McClay for sorting out the “Big Stuff”, like getting us a tent, loos, water and electricity. Then, in no particular order, gratitude and thanks go to the bunting makers, the photograph takers; the tent trimmers and the table hefters; the tea makers and the washer-uppers; the judges and the judged; and the families and friends who all uncomplainingly “got on with it” and did a great job.

Next, on a personal note, I’d like to thank Jean Dugmore for seamlessly taking the helm in my absence, and Bev Atkins, June Hine, Sally Wood and Marg Lester for being the “dream team” anyone could wish for.

Last, of course, thanks must go to the people of the village who turned out in their droves to show support and enthusiasm for this wonderful event... or was it just for the cake? Ali Carter

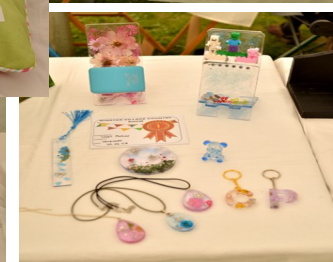

WINSTER COUNTRY SHOW RESULTS

A huge thank you goes to ALL the entrants in EVERY category. There was a fantastic number of items filling all the table tops. The judges had a really tough time, but fortunately, they were able to eventually come up with a full list of certificate winners, the result of which is shown below.

It was especially wonderful to be able to view entries from so many young people in our village, with the baking category being the most popular, giving the judges a great deal of serious debate, not to mention the joy of being given the excuse to eat so much cake.

2023 Pet Show Results

The Winstar Wakes Pet Show was yet again lucky with the weather; sunshine and warmth prevailed and the grass was dry despite a shower of rain earlier in the afternoon. As usual, a very cute and talented selection of animals was entered into the different events and a knowledgeable crowd showed their appreciation throughout. Many thanks to Bakewell Veterinary Clinic for sponsoring the event and to Sally and Tony Wood, who so ably performed the difficult task of judging the different categories. Thanks also to Clementine Brown, the Carnival Queen, who presented the awards. Unfortunately, there were no rabbits, hamsters, guinea pigs or gerbils entered this year, so two categories were not required. Don Ingham

Amber Valley Quire

Many thanks to the Quire for singing at the cafe service last month and for the workshop they held before the service which enabled singers and musicians from Winster to join with them in the service. I know it was very much appreciated.

Letter from Reverend Stephen Monk

"We who want to bring about change have first of all to learn to be changed by those whom we want to help." (Henri Nouwen)

This, of course, is very difficult for those who are undergoing their first exposure to an area of distress. They see poor houses, hungry people, dirty streets; they hear people cry in pain without medical care, they smell unwashed bodies, and in general are overwhelmed by the misery that is all around them. Often we think it's only saints who do such work. Sadly this thinking is for two reasons, one, we all feel inadequate before great suffering and by saying one needs to be a saint, it abdicates us since obviously, we're not saints! Today, 14th July, is the feast of Saint Camillus. He was wayward, a bit of a bugger and a terrible gambler! Yet, due to illness and grace he saw that hospitals of his time were dirty, chaotic and full of despair. Camillus was just like us, he wanted to use his illness, brokenness and worldliness and serve other people. We can use our brokenness or illness if only we have great courage to face up to our broken humanity, which is so much in need of love and healing. Often people in deepest poverty are so very generous - they realise the blessing that they have received. You may think this is a caricature, but it's so obvious in so many places. But none of us will be able to really give if he has not discovered that what he gives is only a small thing compared to what we have received. When Jesus says: "Happy the poor, the hungry, and the weeping" (Luke 6:21), we have to be able to see that happiness. When Jesus says: "What you did to the least of my brothers, you did to me" (Matthew 25:40), he is addressing to us a direct invitation not only to help, but also to discover the beauty of God in those who are to be helped. As long as we see only distasteful poverty, we are not really entitled to give. Henri Nouwen was a great academic, but his spiritual life bore wings only after he worked with people with SENs. When I left school and was seen as thick and part of a no-hope group, I found great purpose in my work with people on the edge of society. People who were victims to the 'Care in the Community' mess. There is no one reading this who cannot redeem their brokenness, sinfulness, illness (even terminal) as long as we look at life, people and the whole world with generous loving eyes. Jesus gives us grace to do this today. Why wait to love other people? I've been blessed to meet people who have worked in slums of the UK, Africa and the USA. Their thoughts may surprise us, they see their vocation as both simple and deep.

When, however, you and I find people who have truly devoted themselves to work in the slums and the ghettos and mess and brokenness of our cities and our rural communities (don't be fooled into thinking these problems don't touch rural Derbyshire) who feel that their vocation is to be of service there, we find that they have discovered that in the smiles of the children, the hospitality of the people; the expressions they use, the stories they tell, the wisdom they show, the goods they share; there is hidden so much richness and beauty, so much affection and human warmth, that the work they are doing is only a small return for what they have already received. I know I've written about it many times, but in Lourdes in France at the City of the Poor (look it up) there is a simple plaque which reads, "No one has the right to be happy alone" I fail often, but this is the statement I try to live by. Now, in August, some of you may well be on holiday, or taking a break at home etc. Please think - How can you serve our communities. Whatever has happened in your life (and all our lives are sacred to God) think about humbly and privately giving yourself to God. Turn to Christ and know how deeply you are loved.

With my love and prayers for your families and you.
As ever yours.
Stephen Monk (Revd)

More donations handed over to Jigsaw Food Bank courtesy of Winster School Council

On Friday 30th June, the older members of the school council handed over bags of healthy snacks and toiletries (shampoo, toothpaste, toothbrushes, shower gel etc). This was part of our initiative to help the food bank with their supplies and following on from the bags of hope that were delivered at Christmas. This batch of supplies was bought with the proceeds of a bric-a-brac sale held recently in school which raised £78 and also helped us clear out our unwanted items.

Macy and Kate had the opportunity at the food bank to meet Sarah, one of the organisers and she explained how the food bank serves up to 50 families a week. We also helped her sort the items onto the shelves in the right places. We also asked how we could help in the future and Sarah explained how we can possibly support in the new year.

*The PTFA is wishing all year 6 leavers -
Nell, Macy, Hannah, Eva, Taya & Henry all the best for their future.
x We will miss you! x*
